A game of base ball was played at the Southern Base Ball Club, of New Or-

Southwest. The weather was very hot, but still there was a large attendance of spectators. The following is the score: Southern, 25; Bluff City, 19. Mr. R. E.
Warren, scorer Southern Base Ball Club;
Mr. J. R. Thompson, scorer Bluff City

Criminal Court.
This Court met at 9 o'clock. The case of Isaac Randall (colored), indicted for an assault with the intent to carnally know and ravish Flora Evans, a white girl of the age of fifteen years, on the 5th day of August last, came up for trial. Considerable time was consumed in obtaining a jury. The jury were sworn at about 3 o'clock, and the case went to the jury at about half-past five o'clock, who, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed the defendant's punishment at ten years in the penitentiary—the last hour authorized by law. Messrs. Washington and Adams appeared for the defendant, and Attorney General Horrigan for the State.

LOCALS IN BRIEF.

Cotton thirty-one cents yesterday.
A fine rain fell at Collierville last evening.

Jesse W. Page, Esq., has returned from Arkansas.

Colonel A. J. Kellar, of the Acalanche, has returned from Nashville.

General Jos. A. Mabry, of Knoxville, is in the city. He leaves to-day.

The watermelon market is well supplied, and prices are rather reasonable.

Colonel A. S. Mitchell, President of the Mississippi River railroad, has returned from a trip East.

The people of Mississippi seem to rejoice more over the Tennessee election than we do ourselves.

The New Memphis Theater will open for the season with unprecedented brilliancy on the 27th of September.

The one-horse street cars, which we mentioned a day or two ago, are much admired. They look quite city like.

Moody, the negro condemned to be hung next Friday, was baptized in his cell last Thursday. He protests his innocence.

Center's majority is 67,808, and twelve centuries to hear from. Stokes is getting uneasy. He has some fears he may be defeated slightly.

The Confederate Picnic Committee meets this afternoon at the office of Mr.
Nourse, on Jefferson street, at three o'clock. Every member should attend.

Mr. N. Fontaine, who was in the terrible railroad accident at Budd's creek, has returned. His wife is at Louisville, rapidly recovering from the injuries she sustained.

Joe Odell, the well-known turfman, lately connected with Joe Seligman's stable, died of consumption at Hot Springs, Arkansas, last Tuesday. The hot springs are death to consumptives.

We were presented this morning with some very fine cotton bolls by Colonel Owen, of the firm of Owen, McNutt & Co., raised on the place of Mr. W. H.
Pope, on the Raleigh road.

Captain Ike A. Hood, who has been in charge of the surveying party on the Mississippi River railroad line, returned on a flying trip to the city yesterday, accompanied by several members of the party. They were after some pay.

The Board of County Commissioners reported yesterday that they had carefully examined the settlement of the County Trustee made with the President of the Board May 1, 1889, and found the same to be correct. We expected nothing less from Mr. Powers.

The County Commissioners yesterday agreed to fix the tax on real and personal property for 1889 at six cents on the one hundred dollars, and the assessment on the Mississippi River railroad bonds at twenty cents. Nothing else was agreed upon.

Mr. J. H. Smith, of the firm of Smith & Bro., No. 71 Madison street, showed us this morning some splendid bolls of cotton, raised on the place of Mr. W. H.
Fichtmaster, four miles from the city, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad.
Mr. F. has a good crop, and it is all opening finely.

Mr. A. B. Moseley, of the Moseley Brothers, publishers and proprietors of our Mountain Home, at Talladega, and the Rising Star, at Oxford, Alabama, is in the city on a business visit.
These papers circulate in the heart of a rich and populous country, and our merchants may find it highly advantageous to advertise in that region.

The famous billiard saloon known as Willitt's, on Adams street, has changed hands. Mr. Willitt has sold out to Mr.
E. Converse, his son-in-law. Mr. Converse has been the partner of Mr. Willitt many years and has had charge of the billiard hall in this establishment ever since it was opened, and he has made hosts of friends. He is a fine business man, and will no doubt fully sustain the fine reputation of the house.

A late number of the Richmond Dis- patch on our table contains this item:
"The Governor has appointed R. Dudley Fraser, of Memphis, Tenn., and R. E.
Brown, of Philadelphia, Commissioners of Deeds for Virginia in their respective States." As far as Colonel Fraser is concerned, we can say this is a first-class selection. He is one of the never fail, never die, sort of young men who is bound to succeed at anything he undertakes.

A desperate character, named Grimmett, was arrested near Bell's depot and lodged in jail at Brownsville last Tuesday. He had beaten one man nearly to death near Clarksville, and when captured by the Sheriff of that county defied him and got away. He had been laying around loose some time, and caused some citizens considerable uneasiness, for it was known that he would stoop to almost any cowardly act. He will be duly examined by the proper authorities.

A correspondent writing to us from near Collierville, under date of the 13th, says: "The continued dry weather is affecting our crop very materially. The rust is making its appearance everywhere. Corn is firing up very fast. In the event of a rain, cotton is doomed to lose many of its forms. Should it retain those already on, the crop will be surprisingly large. We believe the rust is now about the most formidable enemy the farmers are now dreading, the dry weather being a preventative of the rust.
More anon."

The question of repudiating the State debt having been sprung by Emerson Elberidge, we learn that there is an extensive movement on foot to settle the matter by throwing the debt on the railroads, where the most of it belongs. The greater portion of the State debt was incurred by issuing railroad bonds. If the debt is turned over to the railroads they could meet it doubtless by issuing preferred stocks, which might be worth fifteen or twenty cents on the dollar, and eventually the bond-holders would get their money back. This is not repudiation, and the movement may become formidable.

One Garland P. Ware, a conspicuous member of the street railroad family, became enraged, yesterday—a matter easy for him to do—and fired off his pistol at some boys on the top of a street car. He was inside at the time, and the car was very full of men, women and children.
The car was heavily loaded with people returning from the race course, where the base-ball match had been played. The shot caused great consternation, and some gentlemen took charge of the madman and disarmed him; after that, the car proceeded to the city from the place where the scene occurred—out on the Hernando road. The company defies and outrages public sentiment daily by keeping such a man in a responsible place.

Mr. HOFFMEISTER, the popular and genial hostess, intends opening the old Empire Saloon this evening, No. 18 Jefferson street, with a fine and full stock of wines, brandies, etc. She will on that occasion set an excellent free lunch, and desires a reunion of all her old friends.
The establishment has been newly fitted up, and now that such an experienced hand runs it, few places will compare with its popularity. Mrs. Hoffmeister was formerly engaged in business at the corner of Jefferson and Second streets.

EMMONS.—Mr. Emmons is in receipt of the leading dailies, weeklies, monthlies, and other popular news and literature.

ferson street.

and buggies of the latest, lightest and swiftest patterns, go to the DeSoto stables, ment runs just the same in his absence.

Lying by the Gross.
We have read this season of unusually big potatoes, monstrous ears of corn, and other vegetables produced in different rival sections, but it has remained for Cairo to produce the biggest liar of the age. He is a worse monster than the turtle-headed negro baby on Shelby street. In a letter dated August 6th, to the Chicago Tribune, he says:

In the Tribune of the 27th ult., under the caption "Railroad Improvement Debt," you fall into errors which, if uncorrected, may result to the injury of Cairo, which, judging from your characteristic fairness, I am ready to believe you do not intend.

You employ the following language:
"It is only a few months since Cairo applied to the Legislature of the State for exemption from State taxation on the ground that the county was unable to provide for its paupers." Now the fact is, that neither Cairo nor Alexander county applied for relief on any such grounds, but because Cairo, situated at the junction of two great rivers, has shipped to her the paupers of the country above and below. Not a week passes that a family, more or less, is not left at our wharves to starve or to tax the charity of Cairo. In the financial reports of St. Louis, Cincinnati and Memphis it is not an unusual thing to observe "items of expense incurred in shipping paupers."

This chap is evident. I shall pauper himself, besides being a seven-foot man, making an excursion to the lake of fire and brimstone as fast as a volypede can carry him down a heavy grade. If he was ever in Memphis he doubtless slept in the station-house, and may have been furnished money to leave town on by the police to get rid of annoying him every other night as a vagrant. His assertion, as far as relates to Memphis, is made from the whole bolt.

Memphis, Springfield and Kansas City Railroad—Grand Railroad Meeting at Springfield, Missouri—To be assembled August 25, 1890.

In consideration of the importance of an early meeting to consult over the line of the proposed railroad from Memphis, Tennessee, to Kansas City, Missouri, known as the Memphis, Springfield and Kansas City railroad, and looking toward a permanent organization of the company at an early day, it has been concluded to hold a mass meeting at Springfield, Missouri, August 25th, at which time the delegates from Jackson, Cass, Johnston, Henry, St. Clair and Polk counties will meet with the citizens of Greene to take into consideration these matters. It is desired that in each of the counties named meetings be held, and a number of delegates selected to attend. By order of the committee.

COUNTRY PICNIC.

Happy Gathering at Bray's Station and a Cheerful Description.

BRAY'S STATION, M. & C. R. R., August 13, 1890.

EDITORS LEDGER: On yesterday, while all hearts were turned in the direction of Bartlett's and other simultaneous amusements of the most absorbing character, we were attracted hither to the above place by one of the most pleasant rural social gatherings in the way of a picnic we ever enjoyed. It was improvised by the farming community of Bray's Station, prominent among whom were our genial and jolly old friend, V. H.
Swift, Esq., Mr. Tom Taylor, Colonel Shelby, Mr. Persons, and others, who were many thanks for the manner in which everything was conducted.

The place selected for this delightful affair was under the cool shade of a large cluster of oaks, in the beautiful grove adjoining the very elegant country residence of your postmaster, Mr. Josiah Delosch. A more delectable spot could not have been chosen, as it was surrounded on all sides by wide open fields, which permitted the cool and refreshing breezes to circulate freely during the entire day.

Despite the intense heat of the weather and the intolerable state of the dust on all the roads leading thereto, many came —some from quite a distance. Dancing was made unusually pleasant and agreeable for this season of the year by the regulating influence of the locality. The first of clock train having arrived, dinner was announced; and such a feast is less often seen than spoken or written of.
All sorts of barbecue were piled up in dishes on the graining tables, while the profusion of spring chicken, both fried and baked, transcended the immense fixings of a Methodist camp ground.

After having enjoyed this sumptuous repast, all soon found themselves again in the midst of the dance, keeping time to the symphony of such enchanting and exquisite music that seemed almost to cause the branches of the old oak trees to incline in a listening attitude. There was present the most brilliant array of rural beauty we have ever seen on any occasion, and which may well be described by the following lines from Shakespeare:

"Beauty: 'Tis the stainless soul within That outshines the fairest outward."
We would beg your forbearance, Messrs. Editors, for getting so poetical, but such a sight is apt to arouse the sentimentality of most any susceptible youth.
We think that our fair country ladies differ somewhat from young, gay city bellees, both in the healthy bloom of their cheeks and, also, in the unaffected simplicity of their manners.

We will mention a few of those from a distance. The very graceful and pretty Misses Fanny H., Kitty R. and Miss W. were there from Germantown, and Collierville was represented by the beautiful Miss F. and her no less admired cousins Misses Cora and Mattie F.; also, were present Miss Sallie B. and sister, who were bewitchingly lovely. Miss Ida H. was one of Macco's beautiful representatives. Early Grove and Mr. Pleasant each sent one of their most charming bellees—Miss Bettie R. from the former, and Miss C. from the latter place. The two sister-beauties from Fisherville—Miss Alice M. and Miss Bettie S.—were the observed of all observers. And lastly, but by no means the least, were Miss Jennie S. and Miss Alice H., from your city, who were greatly admired. Mr.
Joseph A. Parker was the only gentleman from your city, and seemed to enjoy it hugely. After dancing the whole live-long day, the entire party was invited by Mrs. J. J. Bailey to her beautiful residence not far off, where the festivities were prolonged through the night.
In her hands we leave them, and will conclude by saying that this was one of the most delightful days we ever experienced.

Unfavorable Crop Reports.
The Athens (Alabama) Post, of the 13th, says: "We have received daily discouraging reports from the farmers of the county for the past week in reference to the corn crop, and the general impression now is that not more than two-thirds of a crop will be made. The drouth —in about two weeks ago, just at the time the corn needed rain most. We also hear very unfavorable accounts from the cotton. Brouth, boll-worm and rust are materially injuring the prospect, and the farmers generally are much discouraged at this time."

LADIES IN LUCK.—It is remarkable, but nevertheless true, that ladies always have the best of luck in lotteries. No wonder; Madam Fortune could not but be partial to her own sex. We would, therefore, advise our lady friends to invest in the Henderson County (Ky.) Land Sale, a scheme under the patronage of high-toned gentlemen. A. G. Reynaud, agent, No.
4 Howard's Row.

Just received and for sale by Morrison & Ellis a lot of the purest Catawba wine.
